(Rev. 9/2016)

CLEARINGHOUSE
on WOMEN'S ISSUES

Established in 1974 as a 501(c) (3)
to provide a channel for dissemination of information on national and international issues of interest to women

*"CWI is the best way to know what is going on in the progressive feminist community.
Individual and organization speakers
at the monthly meetings keep us informed on the issues
we need to know about."*

— RUTH NADEL,
CWI DIRECTOR EMERITA

www.womensclearinghouse.org

OUR MISSION

The mission of the Clearinghouse on Women's Issues is to address economic, health, educational, social, political and legal issues facing women and girls. CWI public forums are Washington, DC, networking events to raise awareness and to act as a catalyst to move women and girls towards greater equity. CWI addresses concerns of diverse women at the local, national and international levels.

"CWI provides a focus on a wide range of forums on women's issues and provides opportunities to network, to promote campaigns and activities sponsored by the Alliance for Justice, and to organize programs on issues I want to learn more about – or raise visibility for."

— KELLYE MCINTOSH,
FORMER ASSOCIATE OUTREACH
DIRECTOR, ALLIANCE FOR JUSTICE

PROGRAMS

CWI programs focus on public policy issues of concern to women. Each meeting is devoted to a specific topic presented by speakers drawn from the wealth of expertise in the Washington, DC area. Informal discussion follows presentations. Speakers have included representatives from academic, government, professional and advocacy organizations.

"The topics of the CWI meetings link to all the important issues that I care about and work for in my professional life. The speakers offer significant information and resources. The CWI members offer me a network of like-minded people who I can join in advocacy and friendship."

— HARRIETT STONEHILL,
CWI CO-PRESIDENT
